EPILEPSY

SAN DIEGO COUNTY

SERVING
SAN DIEGO
SINCE
1954

Improving the lives of individuals affected by epilepsy in San Diego County for over 70 years.

Epilepsy is the fourth most common neurological disorder in the U.S., affecting 1 in 26 people. In San Diego County alone, thousands of children, adults, and families live each day with the uncertainty of seizures. Beyond the medical challenges, many face isolation, stigma, school and job difficulties, and barriers to care.

For more than 70 years, the Epilepsy Foundation of San Diego County has been the only local nonprofit solely dedicated to supporting those impacted by epilepsy. Today, over 50,000 individuals in our community live with epilepsy and need our support.

Our initiatives drive our mission and focus. Every day we:

- Offer support groups and peer mentoring for tweens, teens, adults, parents, caregivers that break isolation and build community
- Provide individual and family counseling to help navigate the emotional and practical realities of epilepsy
- Deliver school and workplace education and seizure first aid and recognition training to combat stigma and foster inclusion
- Host tailored camps and youth programs that give children, adults and families living with epilepsy the chance to thrive and belong in a fun, supportive environment
- Advocate for access to care and life-saving medications, so cost is never a barrier
- Offer Spanish-speaking support services to ensure access for the diverse San Diego community
- Host monthly wellness workshops promoting health, resilience, and community connection
- Facilitate Project UPLIFT, an 8-week mental health program designed to reduce depression and stress, and build coping skills for adults with epilepsy
- Connect the community by providing referrals to neurologists, seizure dog services, and other resources
- Empower our youth through the Teens Speak Up! program
- Provide financial assistance through our college scholarship program
- Facilitate school nurse training and in-service education for professionals, including school staff, law enforcement, and employers

Your Support Matters.

Demand for our programs is growing. Nearly one-third of people with epilepsy cannot control their seizures with treatment — making our services more vital than ever.

With your support, we can expand our reach, strengthen our services, and ensure that no one in San Diego faces epilepsy alone.
